Namesake

Regimental Flag of the 3rd Mississippi Infantry

The Camp takes its name from Co. F, The Shieldsboro Rifles of the 3rd Mississippi Infantry. Formed on August 1, 1861 at Shieldsboro, MS. under the command of Captain Deason (Later Col. Deason), the Regiment served as Coastal Defense for Mississippi until its capture on April 3, 1862. The 3rd Mississippi Infantry Regiment was reformed in May 1862 at Camp Moore in Tangipahoa, LA. It was sent to defend Vicksburg and fought at Champion Hill on May 16, 1863. The regiment served around Jackson, MS. until it was sent to Georgia in the Spring of 1864. It saw action at Resaca, New Hope Church, Kennesaw Mountain, and Peachtree Creek. It fought in the defense of Atlanta & served in the trenches until September 1864. In October 1864, the Regiment was sent back into Alabama participating in the Decatur Skirmish, seeing action in Tennessee at Spring Hill and heavy fighting at Franklin on November 30. In February 1865, they were sent to Kingston & Bentonville in North Carolina. As the tide turned against the South in April, the Regiment surrendered on April 26, 1865 at Durham Station, NC. The Shieldsboro Rifles Camp #2263 meets the last Tuesday of each month at the American Legion in Bay St. Louis, MS. (AKA Old Shieldsboro)

Closures, protests scheduled for Confederate Memorial Day

GULFPORT, MS (WLOX) - Mississippi is one of only two states that is still honoring Confederate Memorial Day this year. All state government offices will be closed Monday to commemorate those Southerners who died in the Civil War after the South tried seceding from the U.S.

Members of Mississippi Rising Coalition, however, see it differently. They say it's a taxpayer-funded holiday that celebrates the Confederate States seceding as a means of maintaining slavery.

"I'm troubled that in a state made up of 40% people of color, our leadership continues to openly sanction the use of taxpayer funds to endorse a neo-Confederate agenda," said Lea Campbell, president of MRC, in a press release.

On Saturday, Confederate Memorial Day was celebrated at Beauvoir, the last home of Confederate President Jefferson Davis. A book fair, picnic and Laying of the Wreaths at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier helped commemorate the Southern holiday. The Shieldsboro Rifles branch of the Sons of Confederate Veterans were there, outfitted in traditionally Southern historic attire.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans organization says they want to preserve the history and legacy of those who fought for the Confederacy in the Civil War for future generations.
